

Social Media and Personal Responsibility:

Parents Speak Out About Children Online

The survey revealed that social media has become a way for parents to interact with their children.

72%

of parents who allow their child(ren) to use social media say they monitor social media activity until age 18.

69%

of parents are friends with their children online.

42%

think it is irresponsible to post pictures of children online.

Dads are more likely than moms to have a MySpace or Twitter account.

MySpace:
43% dads vs.
29% moms

Twitter:
55% dads vs.
32% moms

